

Privileges, Chores, and Point of View

Prince Brat insisted upon carrying Captain Nips' kettle when he and Jemmy went to fill it with water. He laughed and explained that he had never been allowed to carry anything in his whole life. Jemmy had never thought of fetching and carrying as a privilege, but from the prince's point of view, it was.

Think of two daily chores that are your responsibility. (Don't forget school duties such as doing homework). Stretch your imagination and explain how each one of them could be thought of as a privilege by another person your age. Next, identify your top two privileges and explain how, from another's point of view, they might become chores. Organize your thoughts below and then write a composition about Privileges, Chores, and Point of View.

My chores, another's privileges. .

My privileges as someone else's chores. . .

To me, these are chores . . .

My top two privileges . . .
